THE DEADLY STING OF UNKNOWN INSECT

SMALL MEXICAN BOY DIES IN GREAT AGONY AFTER THE SECOND DAY

WAS PLAYING IN A LOT WITH HIS FATHER WHEN THE WOUND WAS MADE

Doctors Are Puzzled, but Believe It to Have Been the Bite of the "Trap Door," a Large Black Spider Known to Exist in the Territory.

PHOENIX, Ariz., October 23.—The dead body of Antonio Games, a 5-year-old boy, was brought in from the Agua Fria by his parents yesterday. The exact cause of death is unknown, but it is thought that it was caused by the bite or sting of a poisonous insect. There had been no medical attendance and an inquest was held yesterday afternoon before Acting Coroner Johnstone. The father of the boy thought that death had resulted from a thorn in the foot, but that is only conjecture and the theory is not borne out by the circumstances.

The father is engaged in clearing a tract of ground along the Agua Fria three miles north of the Moore place. A week ago the child was playing about the camp and suddenly he gave a cry of pain. He ran to his mother, who found a slight wound in the bottom of the foot. The boy was quite sick and for a day and a half ate nothing. Although there was no noticeable swelling of the foot, the wound became inflamed and vesicular in appearance. It was opened in a search for the supposed thorn, but nothing was found. The flesh about the wound sloughed off, but there was no other manifestation.

In a couple of days the child recovered his appetite, slept well and did not complain of pain. Two days ago he became feverish and refused to eat. When death came it was without a warning.

There was an entire absence of signs of lockjaw, which usually accompanies a severe wound by a thorn, nail or puncture of the hand or foot and there were none of the symptoms which follow the sting of a scorpion or the more common insects. There is a species of black spider, frequently called the "trap door" spider, almost as large as a tarantula, but not woolly like the tarantula, whose bite the Mexicans regard as certainly fatal. There is no violent pain like that which follows the bite of the tarantula, the sting of the scorpion or the poisonous ant or the bite of the rattlesnake. The patient lingers for a week, sometimes longer, and then the poison seems to act suddenly on the heart.

A few years ago the 17-year-old son of Jules Goret was bitten by one of these spiders, which was killed at the time. The young man lingered for a week and during all that time his condition excited no alarm.

Job for a Dentist with Nerve
Mock Sem, the Chinese leper, is being supplied by his guards with toothache drops until a dentist willing to take the risk of being infected with leprosy by pulling Mock's aching teeth can be found.

The guards say there is a cavity in one of the leper's teeth, and that this is what is causing him so much trouble and making it difficult for him to eat his customary ten and twelve meals a day.

The toothache drops give Mock only temporary relief, and until the tooth is extracted or treated and filled the Chinaman will not be satisfied. But Mock knows everything possible is being done to make him comfortable.

The health authorities are satisfied that a dentist will eventually be found willing to look after the teeth of the leper.—Harrisburg dispatch to the New York American.

PUTTING ON LID IN KANSAS CITY

KANSAS CITY, Mo., October 23.—A list containing the names of several hundred persons who yesterday violated the law against working on Sunday is being prepared for presentation to the grand jury tomorrow and indictments by the wholesale are expected.

Thomas A. Edison, the great American inventor, says: "Fully eighty per cent of the illness of mankind comes from eating improper food or too much food; people are inclined to over-indulge themselves." This is where indigestion finds its beginning in nearly every case. The stomach can do just so much work and no more, and when you overload it, or when you eat the wrong kind of food, the digestive organs cannot possibly do the work demanded of them. It is at such times that the stomach needs help; it demands help, and warns you by headaches, belching, sour stomach, nausea and indigestion. You should attend to this at once by taking something that will actually do the work for the stomach. Kodol will do this. It is a combination of natural digestants and vegetable acids and contains the same juices found in a healthy stomach. It is pleasant to take. It digests what you eat. Sold by Hanna's Drug Store.
